Conclusion 200

He gave me
his hand and he lifted me up. I could feel his strength flowing through me.

I had never felt this way before.

I suddenly felt so

FREE!

But then he said to me,
"You must learn. For knowing conquers fear
and knowledge is the key to freedom.

And so I learned.

And he said to me,
"You must laugh and be happy.
Tears should not dampen the joys of freedom."

And so I laughed and
I was happy.

And he said
to me, "You must grow. For when you grow
freedom grows with you, and then you can share your freedom.

And so I
grew.

And he said to me,
"you must have
faith. For belief in freedom will keep you strong and your belief
will never weaken."

And so I
had faith.

And he said
to me,
"You must have hope. For if you lose hope freedom will perish."

And so I had hope.

A full-page photograph of a man and a woman walking away from the camera on a dirt path. The man is wearing a plaid shirt and the woman is wearing a dark jacket. The background is a soft-focus landscape with trees and a body of water under a hazy sky. The entire image has a warm, reddish-orange color cast.

And he said
to me,

"You must love. For freedom is nothing without love."

loved.

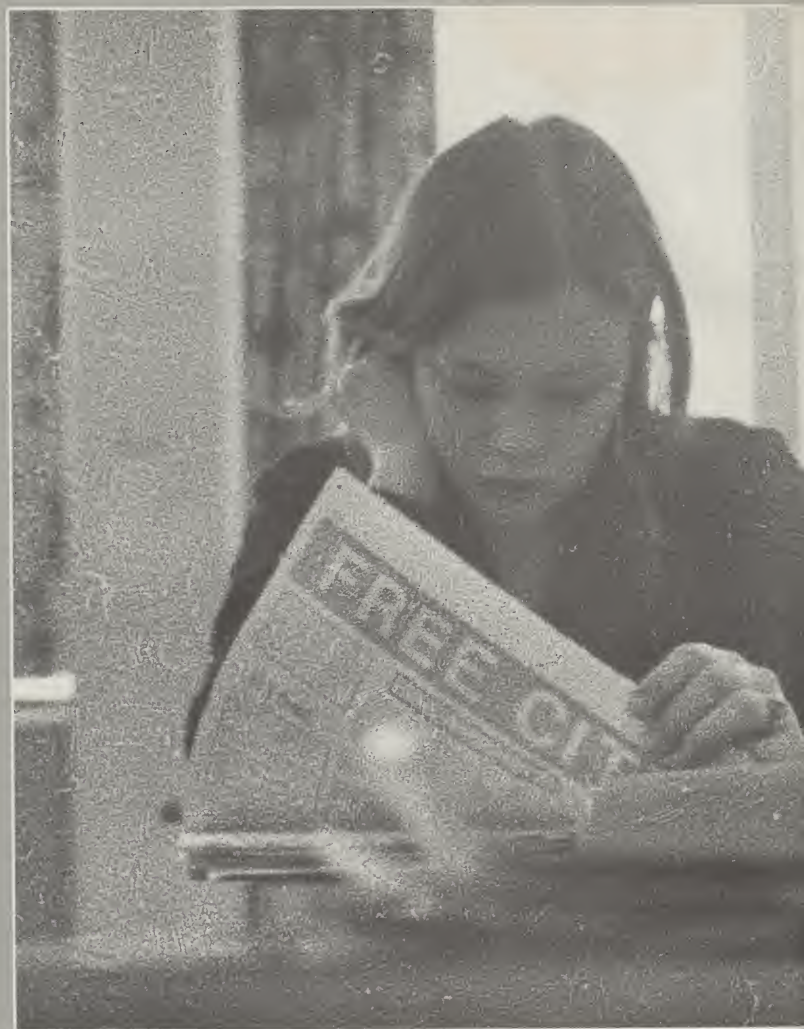

A photograph of a young boy with dark hair, wearing a light-colored long-sleeved shirt and dark pants, climbing a wooden roof. He is positioned on the edge of the roof, with his arms outstretched and a look of concentration or fear on his face. The roof has dark wooden shingles. The background is a clear blue sky.

So I learned.
And I laughed.
And I grew.
And I believed.
And I hoped
And I loved.

Freedom to learn ...

Eng. students live in world of past and present

C.H.S. students experience two worlds--past and present--as they take part in the various classes offered in the English department. The department's divisions are speech; journalism; sophomore, junior and senior grammar; literature and composition.

Besides their regular classroom work, several students debated at a PTC meeting.

Students enrolled in journalism are taught both fundamentals and intricacies--such as movie reviewing and photography. This year the journalism classes took a field trip through the Gary Post-Tribune and the Calumet Press.

Home economics and business look to future

Bolds were the big thing this year, as creative seamstresses constructed the latest fashions from yards of bright, printed material. The "long and short of it" was the thing as designs from midis to hot-pants were sewn. Across the hall future housewives and restaurant owners displayed their talents by turning out three course dinners of tasty appeal.

The career-minded gal was found on the other end of the building perfecting her typing, shorthand and other essentials of the business world. Though women's liberation wasn't taken seriously by most of the girls, being business minded couldn't hurt too much.

Social studies students learn of our

Pollution Fight Faces High Hurdle. . . . Volunteer Army on the Way . . . Calley Guilty on All Charges. These were a few of the major headlines which CHS students faced and were concerned with both in and out of school. Current issues classes brought subjects such as these into spotlight to be discussed and analyzed.

The drug scene was also a major topic of discussion. The pros and cons of marijuana legalization were channeled through heated debates, and the team with the most facts and findings was declared the winner.

Sociology class got a first hand look at actual courtroom drama when they saw Judge Kaplan at work. Here they saw traffic court proceedings which proved to be a not-so-subtle hint to stay within the law while driving. The jury was made up of students from Gary area high schools.

Health, physical education teach physical

Calumet's health and physical education classes influence students' mind and body fitness, which is essential for a full life.

Students enrolled in gym classes participate in sports such as archery, gymnastics, golf, modern dancing, track and the regular fundamentals of baseball, basketball, football and volleyball.

Health classes teach students everything about the human body from the functions and names of the organs, tissues and bones, to how a tracheotomy is performed in case of a lunchroom emergency.

Math classes probe for facts and figures

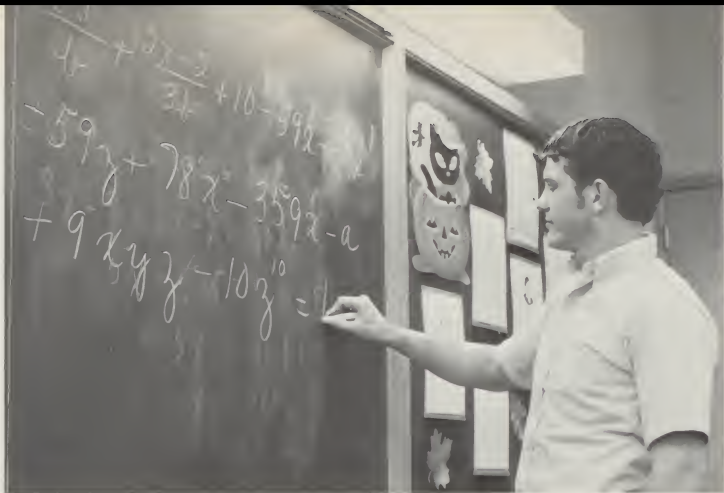

Math classes at Calumet include the completely selective courses of Algebra I and II, plane and analytic geometry, trigonometry, and sometimes calculus, a college-credited course.

Math classes teach students, if they are willing, the patience of solving, and a step-by-step pattern of thinking for future problems they will face.

Courses of math may take a student through anything from theorems for proving to an hour-long problem. Even though math courses are completely selective, 99 percent of the student body indulge themselves in at least one full year of something other than basic math.

Choral dept. under new head

The choral department was led this year by a newcomer to Calumet, Mr. Jerald Dawson. Though it is hard to resume a previous year's activities under a new leader, the a cappella choir came through with flying colors.

Christmas time brought with it the sounds of caroling throughout the halls as the chorus classes made their way through school. A Christmas concert was held by the a cappella choir with the band to add to the spirit of things.

The choir traveled to Crown Point to perform in a joint choral concert with other area schools where it was highly commended for its performance.

The band marches on under a new director

This year the band reached a peak in performance. Starring at half-time during the football games, the entire band was viewed by the public. At Christmas it held a concert which received a standing ovation from the student body.

This was the second year for the Warriorettes to perform during basketball halftimes. They purchased new uniforms which added to the appearance and performance of the girls, and at the same time boosted band spirit and school spirit.

The band also traveled to area schools to perform. Spring came once again and the annual spring concert was held.

Science students at CHS become enlightened

Science classes at C.H.S. take the students through a world of microbes, chemicals and plant anatomy.

Calumet offers general and advanced biology, advanced chemistry and physics.

Mr. Smead: "I think that the sciences here at Calumet give the students a better understanding of their environment and a method of predicting an outcome."

Mr. Richard: "I think that in chemistry classes students have the opportunity to learn all lab techniques mostly by taking the advance course and they also learn important safety factors."

A college professor came to visit our chemistry classes and after observing our classes he told Mr. Richard that Calumet chemistry classes are on the same level as college chemistry courses.

Skillful students engage in art and shop

(TOP) Denny Romich demonstrates safety precautions in wood shop. (ABOVE) Jim Dorsett is diligently working to print name cards in graphic arts class.

for improvement

The shop department at CHA is relatively well developed, since the Gary area is highly industrialized. Classes include metals, advanced metals, woods, advanced woods, welding, industrial welding, mechanical drawing and graphic arts.

Metals and woods classes involve many different types of materials, how to work with them, and how they react in different situations.

Mr. Roy Wilson guides the art classes in bringing out artistic talents in his students. They work with leather, water colors, oils, collages, weaving, pottery, portraits and sketching.

(LEFT) With the help of Diane Jones, the art department now has its own trash can. (BELOW) Pam Modrak demonstrates that art is not just leather and paints; it also includes weaving.

Foreign language classes are different

The highlight of the language department this year was the annual Spanish project of making pinatas at Christmas. With a little imagination and a lot of plaster of Paris, they turned out some interesting pinatas of different shapes and sizes. The French students made use of their individual headphones in their daily lessons. The Latin class was again led by Mr. Zielinski.

(UPPER RIGHT) Carolyn Hinshaw makes use of the lab during a quiz in French class. (LOWER RIGHT) Elaine Dywan and fellow Spanish students find that their classes are not "all work and no play," especially before Christmas when they make pinatas. # Harriers build endurance

In order to be outstanding in crosscountry, a team has to devote many long hours of practice toward building endurance.

This year's team was no different, with team captain Dave Joyner highlighting the season and setting a new school record at 10:05.1 for the two-mile course.

According to Dave, "This year's team had the potential but lacked enthusiasm, one of the main ingredients of a winning team."

Following close behind him in competition were junior Dennis Ross and sophomore Edmundo Muro. Head Coach Chris Traicoff said that both these runners show great promise for the next year, and hopefully the oncoming team will carry on the tradition of winning crosscountry teams at Calumet.

Warriors strive toward improvement

The 1970 varsity team saw no conference title and was not the most outstanding team ever to play for Calumet. But this year saw something that had been lacking at this school for a while. This year's team was one that played together as a unit and showed the spirit of a winning team. And that's a claim of which we can be proud.

When asked how this season looked and what promises the future held, Head Coach Len Schmidt said, "This year's team seemed to have the momentum when they began the season but just lacked experience to cope with the opposition. I think that the reason for our team's poor record, by Calumet's standards, was that this year's team was composed of a majority of juniors and sophomores. As for the future, next year's opposition will be about the toughest we've seen in years, but I think our oncoming team can come out ahead."

Basketball record surprises area teams

Despite the claims by some of our so-called area authorities that ours was one of the poorest teams in the area, Calumet's 1970-71 basketball season boggled the minds of many a pessimistic fan.

Sparked by the return of Greg Traicoff, a starting guard and high point man the previous year, Calumet rolled by many over-confident teams.

During games it was not uncommon to find Dave Joyner and Jim Anderson dominating the backboards. The defensive ability and quickness of Bobby Wheatley often caught an opponent off guard.

Chris Traicoff, head coach for his final year, stated that the team did surprise many schools and often himself at times, but disappointed him by not winning their own sectional, which would have been a first in Calumet history.

Grapplers go undefeated in dual meets

The year of the young team. That would have to be the story of the 1970-71 varsity wrestlers. The team was composed of ten juniors and only two returning seniors, Greg Rouse and Henry Gora.

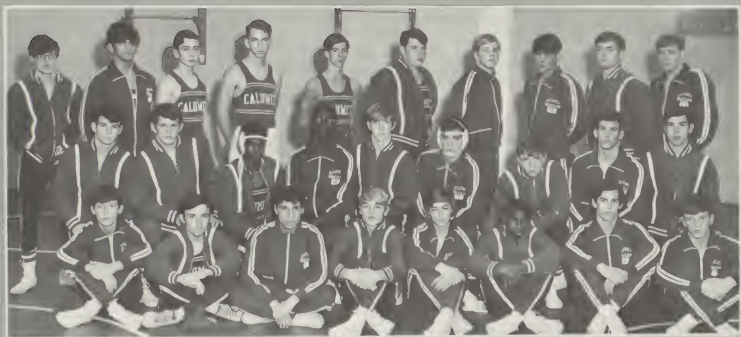

The fans expectations of another mediocre season were definitely changed by midseason as the team hit a streak of wins which became a habit by the end of the year.

Wrestling Coach Rolland Becham said that his wrestlers responded very well to coaching this year, and when it came time to perform they all seemed to be preparing themselves for another victory, "It's a great feeling to watch a boy wrestle and reflect the time and effort you've put out to help him improve himself as a wrestler and as a man."

'71 baseball season proves productive

The '71 baseball season not only saw the most games ever played in one season, but also the most games ever won by a Calumet baseball team. The team's final conference ranking was 4th with 7 wins and 7 losses.

The season's highlight was Calumet's extra-inning victory over South Bend Clay, defending state champions, in the Colonial Classic tournament.

When interviewed about the team, coach Trcka said, "This year's team is one of the youngest teams I've had in a while. A lot of juniors and sophomores. They've done an excellent job, I think. Our weakest point was the pitching staff, which at times during the season was down to as few as three boys. As for next year the team looks pretty good with all the regulars returning."

Golf team gets into the swing of things

Golf more so than other sports, takes a high degree of concentration and patience. It can be a very trying sport.

This year saw two of Calumet's finest golfers returning for the last time--Doug Nasby, a four letterman, and Rich Page. Along with their fellow teammates they took on their opponents enthusiastically, if not successfully.

Although the team didn't quite play up to "par" the boys gained experience which will be of great value next year.

Robert Royer, no newcomer to coaching golf, tried his best to inspire the boys to victory, and kept cool at all times, never getting "teed off."

The 1970 track season proved to be a productive one. The track team's record at the end of the year was 9 wins and 5 losses. However, losing against past state champs like Gary Roosevelt isn't like losing against any old mediocre team.

Injuries were a big factor during the 1970 season. They lost a good sprinter at the very beginning of the year (Gilbert Garcia), and one of the team's best runners (Ezra Hemphill) towards the end of the year with injuries to his ankle.

With these injuries it left a big load on the shoulders of the other big sprinters like Steve Kellemen, Mike "Speed" Peek, Larry Kloc and Rick Funston, who did an exceptionally good job throughout the season.

A new style of cheering has been introduced to Calumet High School.

Last summer the varsity girls attended cheerleading camp in Syracuse, Indiana. The gals changed their old style to the modern do it, do it and get yourself together type of cheers.

Captains were Judy Cliborne and Kathy Johnson.

"After our last basketball game I had such an unbelievable feeling of losing something that was very important to me," Judy said. "I guess it would be hard for most people to understand this. It's not easy to accept the fact that it's all of a sudden over, for good. Cheerleading had become such a way of life, it seems now a part of me is gone."

Little "500" is a first for Calumet

A first flop for the French Club. Lack of participation on behalf of Calumet students caused this worthwhile event to be cancelled. Profits from the race were to have been donated to the Calumet Aid Program. French Club wishes to express their "sincere thanks".

Club members also had dinner at Jacques, a French restaurant and visited the Art Institute in Chicago.

French atmosphere was brought to Calumet by purchasing a set of French encyclopedias, records, and magazines.

(ABOVE) Christmas, French style, seems to be enjoyed by Helena Gruszyk, Paul Burt, and Ruth Petersen. # Girls Athletic Association means . . .

. . . Fun and lots of hard work in volleyball, basketball, bowling, track and dressing up for the annual G.A.A. Ball, "Spanish Castle Magic."

The ball was held in the old gym, which was decorated in red, white, and black. Queen was Cheryl Meulemans with Carol Simunic and Janet Morgenroth as her attendants.

The battle between the Whangies and the Wipe-Outs proved to be a victory for the seniors . . . again. Coach Betty Cheliras resigned after her last victory with the famous Whangdapootanowas.

Initiates were distinguished from other students by wearing rolled down bobby socks with loafers and pleated skirts. Red noses and bathing caps were also normal clothing attire for the girls on that day.

Skiers finally get their chance

The Ski Club finally went skiing, this year was a first. Although few people, approximately 20, participated in the sport, the trips were lots of fun. The majority of the kids were novices and a couple of them came home minus the ability to walk straight and breathe properly.

Two trips were taken. One to Wilmont Mountain, and the other to Alpine Valley, Wisconsin.

New weights

bought by guys

The Varsity Club, sponsored by Coach Beckham and Coach Schmidt, donated fifteen dollars to Girls State this year and also donated to C.A.P. The guys went to a Northwest Football game in October and held a picnic at the Dunes in April.

The Varsity club also paid for a new set of weights for the weight room, sold candles, and as previous years sold potato chips during lunch hours.

Harry Volkman visits Calumet

Chemistry Club had a variety of speakers from various parts of the region. Meteorologist Harry Volkman was the highlight of the club's year.

A trip to Eckrich Meat Products, in Fort Wayne, Indiana, proved to be very vital to the digestive system, with each student receiving a sample of their products.

The Biology Club made its first appearance this year. Sponsored by Mr. Charles Cole, the club strived for better understanding of ecology. They also sponsored a glass clean up day which was held during Earth Week. A field trip was taken to Dunes State Park in order to study ecological succession.

(RIGHT) Pete Panayi, club president, will not give the answer to Herbie Harris's question, "How many beans, Pete?" # Honor Society furnishes calories

A Reese cup, a Snickers and two Fire Sticks. If the Honor Society did not sell candy during lunch hours none of the above could have been possible. A banquet was held free of cost by the club for initiation and as a reward for the members that gave up their lunch hours selling candy.

Dan Bacon and Donna Cheliras were selected to compete for the National $1000.00 Scholarship sponsored by the Association of High School Principals.

A new sponsor, Nancy Bourne, pepped up the club with new ideas. Two smaller scholarships were given to two seniors for vocational schooling.

The club also sponsored a car wash that helped raise money for two one-hundred-dollar scholarships that were presented to two graduating seniors.

Quill and Scroll joins the roster of CHS clubs

Quill and Scroll enjoyed a re-animated year at Calumet under the sponsorship of Robert Friend. Composed of fifteen members, their purpose was to encourage and reward individual achievement in journalism and other fields.

Although plagued with a meager financial endowment, Quill and Scroll recruited new members by treating them to a pizza party at the Pizza Hut in Highland.

Officers elected were: Craig McIlennan, president; Anne Buckley, vice-president; Mary Leonard, secretary; and Dan Bacon, treasurer.

Homemakers of tomorrow begin today

Four years of high school pass by too soon for most of us. The Homemaking club tries to prepare Calumet's girls for the futures as housewives.

Christmas cheerbaskets were prepared for the needy families in the Calumet Region by the club members. Profits from the taffy apples they made contributed to the Calumet Aid Program fund. Cancelled stamps were collected to give children in India a free glass of milk.

Calumet High School turned into a night club on March 13. A Bunny Dance was held presenting the Meditations.

Carolyn Crook was selected as "Bunny of the Year" with Dixie VanNater as first runner-up.

The girls also sold foot rests and calendars to raise money. A $100.00 scholarship was presented to a deserving senior during senior awards.

“Toys for tots”

Health Careers presented a “toys for tots” drive to give Christmas presents to homeless children at the Carmelite orphanage. The girls seemed to enjoy doing this worthwhile project for the less fortunate.

Barbara Roth from Indiana University School of Nursing and Diane McCatherine, representing the volunteer services at Methodist Hospital, were guest speakers for the club.

Other activities included a bake sale and a trip to Dunes State Park.

Variety is key to successful Warrior staff

Newspaper was quite a mixture of different things this year. There were the usual complications that accompany putting out any paper.

But intertwined among writing and editing copy, learning to crop pictures, and seeking interesting news stories were the antics that liven up any staff. Birthday parties and second hour get-togethers broke up the monotony of setting headlines and folding papers.

Though only a few stayed after hours to finish last minute jobs, the whole staff put forth a worthwhile effort to make this year's paper the best. The financial "hot-water" was a bit less scorching this year, giving the staff more momentum. All these factors contributed to the success of the paper, one of the best we've had in a long time.

Little clubs strive for recognition

The little clubs of Calumet strive for recognition and seem to be getting it. Several days throughout the year the cafeteria has been occupied by card sharks and chess players. Photography seems to hold most people's interest and it is sure to see another year.

O.E.A. gets new sponsor

Training students for future office work is no easy job, especially for a club. The Office Education Association makes an attempt to do so, and always seems to do well.

Through various activities of O.E.A., members gain the initiative needed for future contact with society. Projects such as candy, student directory and ribbon sales were sponsored by the club. It also sponsored its annual spaghetti supper. At the end of the year, the O.E.A. had its employees' banquet.

(TOP) Dole Reisetter seems to be enjoying himself at the spaghetti supper. (ABOVE) DECA students sponsored the selling of pop during lunch hours.

DECA students win awards

DECA students work for a half day in their senior year. The club's sponsor, Mr. Jack Barath, finds jobs for the students in the field they have been trained in, in his class.

Two students did well at the state DECA convention, which was held in Indianapolis. Delores Harris placed first in the job interview on the junior level and Henry Tyler won second place on the senior level for sales presentation.

Student lounge appears at C.H.S.

Having one of their most active and successful years, the Student Council pushed through many demanding activities.

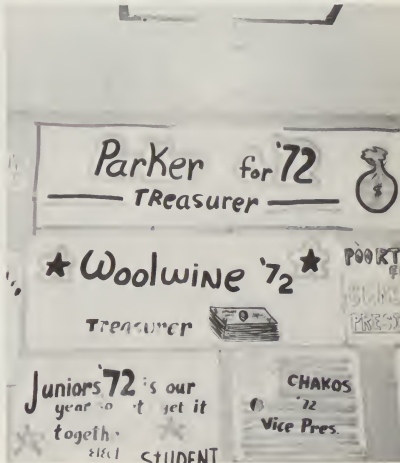

The old chorus room was given a rebirth as the student lounge, through help from co-chairmen Charlie Stock and Joe Robinson.

The annual talent show was a great success due to the wide variety of acts, with seniors taking all the laughs. A voting machine was brought in and used for election of student council members and class officers.

Exchange programs with neighboring high schools seemed beneficial to both our students and those who were visiting.

Miss Kathleen O'Neal resigned as the position of Student Council sponsor after three consecutive years.

C-teens sponsor potluck supper

A potluck supper was the main activity of the C-teens. Each girl brought her speciality for the occasion.

A make-up party and a trip to the zoo were also part of the club's agenda. Proceeds from the auction sponsored by the club were donated to C.A.P.

As all clubs have, the Business Club also had a bake sale. They also had a speaker from Sawyer Business College in Hammond and a speaker from the U.S. Air Force.

This year this club held their banquet at Moma Puntillo's on April 1.

Two $100 scholarships were given to members of the club.

The club also toured the IBM center in River Oaks.

"Hip Hippy Horray" a success

They said it couldn't be done, ha! Forty-two in the cast. Wow!

"It gave me great personal satisfaction," says Paul Borlick, sponsor of the drama club. "A lot of great kids were responsible for it."

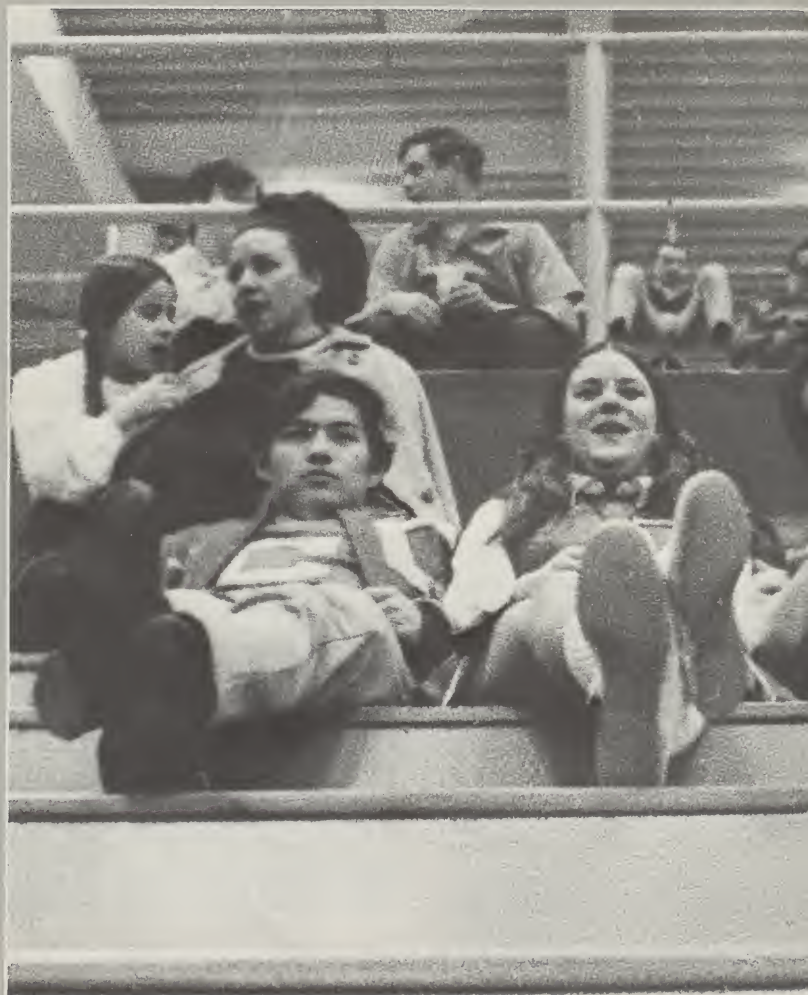

This was one of the greatest plays put on by Calumet Players. In the past years melodramas were presented, which were good but only allowed a few students to show their talent.

The major characters were Stu Padol, who played Will Hansen; Brenda Borns, Suzy Stevenson; Donna DePew, Alex; Greg Reithel, Diogenes; Judy Cliborne, Mitzi; David Cliborne, Commander Brotherhood and Pat Dick, Mrs. Stanky.

Stu Padol, lead character said "We're losing a lot of talent this year. Now it's just a matter of waiting until next year to see what kind of talent exists in the class of '73."

Juniors prepare for senior year

"I attribute the success of the Class of '72 to the high rate of responsibility on the part of the individual," said Charlie Stock. "In most cases a class is represented by a small group of students but our class has the talent and initiative to get the work done."

The Class of '72 has done an outstanding job in its activities. The most successful included two film festivals, two candy sales, a dance featuring the Luciers, and two car washes.

The reason for this success was the determination to sponsor the best prom CHS had ever seen.

"Everyone did their part in working toward the prom," stated Carol Simunic, prom chairman. "Without the students' cooperation, it could not have been such a great success."

Sophomores strive to build class spirit

A group of new faces entered Calumet in the fall of 1970 for the first time in two years. The class of '73 became Calumet's first class to join together from the two junior highs in our system. They brought with them many problems, but brought a great deal of new ideas also.

As usual, the class had to learn to unite and work together in doing projects such as selling candy and baked goods. Plans were made for car washes, dances, and other activities to promote responsibility and encourage leadership. By the end of the first semester, everyone found out that a little patience and a little heart were two necessary ingredients required to fit into high school life. Although some students were a bit anxious to fit in, most of the class earned their title as Calumet's Class of '73.

Cheek sets example

Although it is hard to compare one day in a student's life to those of the many students at Calumet, Duane Cheek's day is something special. He believes each day is important and applies himself to the jobs that come to hand.

At school, Duane acts as the voice of the students. He was elected as Student Council president and had to resign and try something else—the computer data game. During the half-day program, he leaves after lunch for his job at the First Federal Savings and Loan Bank. He still finds time for OEA and most important, his studies. Duane's free time may be spent listening to records or at other activities. Whatever he is doing, he is concerning himself with the most important thing on earth . . . life.

Spirit week ignites student enthusiasm

Fun and memories were crammed into three short days and three long nights for Homecoming Week '70. Spirit began on Warrior Day as Indian braves and maidens piled into school. The lunch hours provided time for pow-wows and war chants. Thursday morning found many area drivers wondering what hordes of bicycle riders were doing on the streets early in the morning. The students who participated in Bicycle Day had a lot of fun and those who didn't were sorry.

The Powderpuff game was quite a controversy. Because of stormy weather the game was almost held in the gym. But the sun broke through and found an extremely close game. The Whangies came out on top with an 18-14 victory. The Wipe-Outs gave quite a bit of competition to the third-time victors. The parade was held in the chilly night air but the bonfire provided warmth and togetherness for the students.

Evening activities splashed with splendor

Friday, October 16, brought an end to a week full of surprises. The final election for Homecoming Queen was an important order of business as the four candidates anxiously awaited the outcome. The means of electing finalists this year was quite a surprise as each government and economics class voted for two candidates and a runner-up. After the list was compiled students voted for four finalists. Then voting for one girl became the last important step. Night activities found Reba Glover as Homecoming Queen 1970. Later in the evening Marlow Jackson was named Mr. Football.

Jobs offer chance for “bread”

No matter how parents react to the fact, kids grow up; but every person on earth has a different way of growing.

Some years are molded with guidelines from parents, yet the time comes when you must break away and join the world.

Although many complain about it, work is a necessary part of surviving. High school years breed the need for money, thus usually the need for employment. In order to do well at your job, you must like what you're doing. It is hard to find a job you definitely will like, so seeking a job that holds new experiences may be the answer.

With help from the teachers and counselors at Calumet, doors are opened to new houses of learning; computers, banks, airplanes, and drycleaners are just a few subjects of unusual jobs held by students at Calumet.

Winter is Ball fun

"Ye fair maidens; ask a gallant gentleman to escort you to the GAA ball, December 12, 1970." Such were the thoughts of those involved in the annual event sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association. Pictures of "Spanish Castle Magic" came to decorators as they arrived the preceding Friday night to turn ideas into three-dimensional objects. Couples arriving later found their way to white castles and red roses. A giant chandelier hung in the room shining its light on dancing couples. The evening went on beautifully until eleven o'clock when the fantasy land turned into reality. Couples then made their way to their favorite restaurant for a midnight meal to top off the enchanted evening.

CAP uses

student effort in a community project

The Student Council launched the Calumet Aid Program on February 15, with the annual Slave Sale. During every lunch hour of that week, students paid ten cents to have a person's name placed on a list of slaves for sale. The bidding started at twenty-five cents.

Clubs competed during the months of February and March. Various clubs sponsored activities such as the First Annual Calumet Little 500 and several bake sales. The senior class sponsored "Who's Your Perfect Mate?" during class competition week, March 1-5.

The Calumet Aid Program is an annual project sponsored by the Lake Ridge School System and headed by Macon Terrell. It is a program which helps furnish various necessities for students unable to obtain them. Each spring the community is asked for clothing and monetary donations for this program.

Christmas season alive with antic

Hall decorations, Christmas parties, and the thought of vacation kept the spirit alive during the Christmas season.

While some students kept busy decorating halls and classrooms, others were rushing to get things finished at home. Students barely found time to study for tests squeezed in among the activities.

The band and A Cappella gave their annual Christmas concert, which brought students and faculty to their feet to applaud the fine performance. Santa was seen roaming the halls as carvers added music to fit the festive occasion.

The last day before vacation brought an end to the festive Christmas fun, but began a few weeks of holiday excitement with the beginning of the winter break.

Students of the A Cappella choir perform during the Christmas concert. The choir, led by Mr. [Name], performed a variety of songs, including "Silent Night" and "O Holy Night". The concert was held in the gymnasium and was attended by many students and faculty members.

GAA presents "A Tribute to Traicoff"

Loyalty Day brought contrasts to Calumet's daily routine. The sectionals were to be held at Calumet for the first time, yet it was the last Loyalty Day for Calumet's Chris Traicoff and the last for the Class of '71.

The pep session was highlighted by a newtype of skit, a short history of Coach Chris Traicoff depicting his early days as wrestling champ, basketball star, and as Calumet's varsity basketball coach for 21 years. A plaque was presented to Mr. Traicoff by the class presidents commemorating his wonderful work and dedication to Calumet. GAA sponsored the annual event and club president Annie Buegler MC'd the program. Debbie Ison and Sharon Borom, representing the GAA basketball team, presented sponsor Miss Laura Baird with a dozen pink roses as a gift for her time and patience. The team was presented with the traditional cake stating, "Good Luck Warriors." In their last show for the student body the Warriorettes, lead by Mary Lesicko, performed "Mission: Impossible" and "The Stripper."

Among all the final performance dedications, the Loyalty Day pep session was the first in a series, something of which Calumet students were very proud.

(BELOW) After being dead for over a year, the spirit of the Rafter Rats rose from the grave in time to add that "something" to the sectional games.

Spring brings "We've Only Just Begun"

Marquette Park Pavillion was the scene on April 30 when 156 couples attended the 1971 Prom, "We've Only Just Begun". The wooded lakeview area provided a romantic setting for the couples who cared to stroll out to the balcony to be alone.

The spacious area provided plenty of room for the couples to take part in the grand march. At the conclusion of the march Donna Depew and Kirk Cuneo were crowned queen and king of the prom. Their attendants included Pat Muyskens, Marilyn Kuter, Jo Ann Woolwine, David Long, Charlie Stock, and Mike Lovings.

After the formal affair, everyone then made their way to the Post-prom held at the Scherwood Club. Upon completing the after-hours dinner, the couples danced to the music of Ask Rufus. Finally, in the wee hours of Saturday morning, a caravan of couples headed for Turkey Run to top off the event.

seniors become Alumni '71

Now we are at the end . . . but we've only just begun. Twelve years of work and play--only the beginning of the world for most, and the end for those who did not care.

To some, Commencement looked like just rows of faces, but those faces were symbols of the members of tomorrow. The eyes of those faces saw many of their friends for the last time as many of those voices spoke together in final haste.

In their final moments, members of the class viewed themselves as present members of Calumet. But when the ceremony was over they crossed the threshold of the world's door and became Calumet's Alumni '71.

Well, we're seniors!

That's right! We're seniors! It's really kind of hard to believe, isn't it? In September we realized that we were starting our final year at C.H.S. All the activities we took part in! There were a lot of them-- Homecoming, the GAA Ball, Sectionals, the class trip, the Prom . . . and we knew they were going to be our last. Remember ordering our announcements and caps and gowns? That only made us realize how close we actually were to ending four years of high school life.

But leaving doesn't mean forgetting. We can always recall the fun we had our final year. And when we see pictures of '71 we can proudly say, "That's us, when we were seniors at Calumet!"

Seniors take class trip

The year 1971 marked a first for Calumet's senior class. Careful planning by diligent students enabled the class to enjoy a class trip during Easter vacation. The students manned a United Airlines jet at Midway Airport and ended up in Washington D.C. for three days and two nights of varied experiences.

The days were spent touring various sights of the nation's capitol such as the White House and Arlington National Cemetery. After hours of walking students retreated to their rooms to hash over the day's activities and prepare themselves for upcoming events.

The trip came to a close and all could say they had an enjoyable time.

Outstanding Seniors, DAR winner

chosen by class of '71

Each year members of the senior class vote on who they think should be the outstanding boy and girl of their class. These two people are the ones who the students think have put in a lot of hard work and determination for the benefit of the class. This year the seniors chose Dorothy Nimetz and Duane Cheek.

Dorothy also received the Daughters of the American Revolution Award. This was also based on a senior vote, with teachers making the final decision.

Both students were well deserving of the awards they received.

This year was similar, yet different, from previous yearbook days. The same cropper losing, picture printing, layout drawing and deadline rushing occurred. But still, we worked and sweated and finished our pages in time. A lot of things in this book couldn't have been possible without the cooperation of the whole staff. Everyone sold ads and worked for the betterment of this book. Hours of time and patience were essential in order to complete deadlines. At times we thought we weren't going to make it, but we always pulled through. There were very few "midnight vigils" as in the past, when one occurred about every week.

It went extremely well this year. All did their job and did it well, though sometimes not a second too soon. We even had help from non-yearbookers such as John Nauta, III who aided us in a time of need. Tom Irvine, a yearbooker of the past, was here at the beginning of the year to help get our sports section going. To these people and our supporters we give a big hearty THANKS!

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 2000). The prevalence of mental health problems has increased in the general population, and the incidence of mental health problems has increased in the prison population.

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the mental health needs of prisoners. The Department of Health (2000) has published a strategy for mental health services, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of prisoners. The Department of Health (2000) has also published a strategy for mental health services, which includes a commitment to improve the mental health of prisoners. the 1990s, the number of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia has increased in the United Kingdom (Meltzer 1996). This has led to a growing reliance on the use of drugs to manage the condition.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop a more holistic approach to the management of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia. This approach should take account of the physical, psychological, social and spiritual needs of the individual. The spiritual needs of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia have not been given the same attention as the physical, psychological and social needs. This is despite the fact that spiritual needs are an integral part of the human experience and can have a significant impact on the overall well-being of the individual.

The spiritual needs of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia are often overlooked by healthcare professionals. This is because they are often focused on the physical and psychological aspects of the condition. However, spiritual needs are an integral part of the human experience and can have a significant impact on the overall well-being of the individual. It is therefore important that healthcare professionals take account of the spiritual needs of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia.
